

Loss of Ship Manchester of Nantucket.
Fate of the Crew!

Letter from the United States Consul at Valparaiso, and from Thomas E. Coffin, (Captain's Son.)

The ship Manchester, Capt. Alexander H. Coffin, of Nantucket, from New York, April 7th, 1854, for Valparaiso, before reported as a missing vessel, struck a sunken rock on August 28th, in about latitude 55° South, to the Westward of Cape Horn, drifted until the 27th, when she grounded at 5 A. M., on a small island, and opened in two parts.

The following particulars of the disaster are contained in a letter dated on board the Spanish war vessel Meteoro, Don Buenaventura Martinez, Com., May 25, 1855. It is presumed to be the statement of the captain's son, one of the survivors:

"The American ship Manchester, of Nantucket, left New York for Valparaiso on the 7th of April, 1854, the complement of hands on board, being seventeen, and the captain's wife. One man died at sea before we arrived at Montevideo, which port we put into on the 24th of July, 1854, and again left on the 28th for Valparaiso, after having shipped 4 extra hands at Montevideo.

On the 28th of August, after passing Cape Horn, the ship struck on a sunken rock in about lat. 55° S, and to the southward of the Cape, land distant 30 miles. Not being able to keep her free with pumps, got the boats out, which were shortly afterwards stove; had afterwards the mainmast cut away.

At 12 same night she was full of water, but continued to drift until 5 A. M. of the 29th, when after passing a small island, she grounded, and in 20 minutes opened in two parts, and all on board were immersed in the water. The captain and his wife clung together, but by some chance got separated, and the captain alone rose to the surface; he immediately seized upon a plank, and succeeded in rescuing his son, on which plank they drifted to the stern part of the vessel, where they remained till sunset, having concluded they were the only survivors of the ill-fated ship. They then managed to get ashore on the island, where they found one barrel of bread and another of flour.

Four days after, the second mate and one seaman arrived at the island on a raft they constructed on another island on which they were east, distant 1 1/2 miles. Here they remained whilst the captain was building a boat. Having all crossed on the raft, to the Island on which the second mate first landed, where was much of the wreck of the ship and cargo and provisions. On the 3d of November, the second mate died, being completely exhausted. His name was David Rees Evans, a native of South Wales.

19th Nov. we first saw any of the natives, some men and women, having landed from a canoe. We just finished our boat and was ready for starting. The Indians having at first received what could be spared to them of our clothes, etc., retired; and afterwards returned with bludgeons, and insisted on stripping us. Three attacked the captain and three the seaman, who having disabled two of them fled to the boat in which the boy already was. Unfortunately the captain received a blow which must have instantly killed him. The boy received two arrows in his jacket, but escaped unhurt. We landed on the Island where part of the wreck still remained, we returned in the evening and found the captain's body lying naked on the rocks and dead. Not daring to remain we took two barrels of bread and returned to the wreck.

After remaining several days, we ventured along the coast in our boat. At the end of about six weeks we found the provisions all expended and subsisted on such shell fish as we could gather amongst the rocks. After subsisting for some time in this way, a native canoe hove in sight; being destitute of subsistence for a month at least, except the raw shell-fish, we gave ourselves up to the Indians and having nothing to excite their cupidity, they behaved very kindly to us, and with them remained up to this present time, having never once seen a vessel, until a steamer passed a few days since, but had no communication with her.

Our eternal gratitude is due to the Captain of the Meteoro, who has taken us on board, and fed and clothed us.

Our ship was called the Manchester of Nantucket, Capt. Alexander Hall Coffin, from New York, bound for Valparaiso, with a cargo of coals and lumber, from the firm of Cartwright & Harrison, of New York. Saved. Thos. E. Coffin, the captain's son, and Robert Wells, seaman, of Boston.

The commander of the Meteoro says that in his passage in the Straits, having anchored in Port Gallant (Fortescu Bay) during the night of the 24th of May, on the 25th several Indian canoes came alongside, amongst whom were two Americans, literally as naked as themselves. He took them on board and brought them to Valparaiso, fulfilling for his part a duty imposed on him by Christianity and humanity.

After the foregoing was in type, Mr. Seth B. Coffin kindly handed us the following letters, received by him—one from the U. S. Consul at Valparaiso, and the other from the son of Capt. Coffin.

UNITED STATES CONSULATE,
Valparaiso, June 29, 1855.

SETH B. COFFIN, Esq. Nantucket.

MY DEAR SIR:—I enclose you the following letter of Thomas E. Coffin, giving the melancholy account of the death of his Father and Mother, and the loss of the ship "Manchester," of New York, and of his sufferings and perils. I have only time to say that he is in good health, and I shall send him and Robert Wells, seaman, who was saved, and has been with him all the time, to Baltimore in the Bark "Eliza," Capt. Philips, who is a kind, good man, and will take good care of Thomas, and who will see that he goes from Baltimore home.

The Bark will sail in a few days.

In haste, Very Respectfully.

GEO. B. MERWIN,
Consul of the U. States.

VALPARAISO, June 20th, 1855.

DEAR COUSIN SETH: Can I, must I tell the sad tale; yes I must. The ship Manchester, of Nantucket, left Montevideo, July 28th, 1854. We had very pleasant weather till we got off the Capes, then we had an awful gale which lasted two weeks, in that time we made very little headway. On the morning of the 28th of August we struck a sunken rock about 30 miles from the land. As soon as we had struck we sounded the pumps and found she made water fast. We rigged them and went to pumping, but having coal in that choked them; we got the boats out but there being a heavy sea running they were stove, then there was no hope but the ship.—Having lumber in, Father thought that she might keep on the top of the water, providing she had her masts cut away, which was done. At 3 o'clock in the afternoon we saw land. At 9 o'clock in the evening she was full of water and the sea made a clean breach over her. At 5 o'clock the next morning she went on a reef close to the land, and being full of water a heavy sea broke her up in 20 minutes. Father and Mother, the steward, 2d mate and myself were in the cabin, Mr. Pitman and crew were on the house, when the mainmast went by the board carrying him and the crew overboard and we heard nothing more of them: Those in the cabin when the ship went to pieces went down all amongst the timber, rocks and kelp. Father had his arm around Mother and he did not intend to part with her, but a rope or chain passing between them they were separated. Mother never came up, but Father and myself arose. He saw me and said what poor soul is that, and I replied, it is Thomas; he then told me to come to him, and I did so, and we got upon the lumber. By and by we saw the stern of the ship and got upon it and drifted 5 miles to an island; 4 days after we were joined by the 2d mate and one seaman from another Island, three miles from the ship. We remained on the island one month; in that time Father made a boat, and we went to the island where the 2d mate came from. There we found provisions and some lumber. Father made another boat larger than the first, intending to get to St. Carlos, on the island of Chiloe, 600 miles from where we were, but alas, he never succeeded. On the 2d of November the 2d mate died of consumption.—On the 22d of the same month some natives came to the island; we received them with kindness and took them into our house and warmed them, and gave them biscuit and water. Seeing the 2d mate's clothes they wanted them, and we gave them all but a pair of pants, when they were ready to go, we gave them some more bread and they left and went on to the top of the hill and deposited the clothes, one came back and Father said, Thomas get him a chunk of fire, I did so, but he did not want that, he wanted more clothes, we gave them the pants then, and then the rest came down and wanted the clothes that were on us. Father said, you don't want our clothes, and for us to be naked and cold? but they were treacherous. Father saw it in their eyes, and said, George get a bolt and defend yourself. Then I had to witness an awful scene, one native tried to wrench the bolt that Father had, while two others got on the top of him having a club hammer, with which they gave him an awful blow over the left eye which knocked it out and spilt his brains all over his face. At the same time George had three more on him but he knocked two over, they run a spear through the sleeve of my left arm. Seeing Father on the ground I ran to him, and tried to put him in the boat, but he was too heavy. George seeing Father on the ground, said take me, take my clothes, but don't kill me! said I no, jump into the boat. We shoved her off and I jumped in, but he fell in the water, the natives seeing that we were escaping ran on a point of land and threw a spear at me, but the Almighty guided it and it passed within a few inches of my body, and struck in the boat and broke in pieces, then George got in. Finding that they could not reach us with spears they began to throw rocks at us, one of which struck me on the head, gave me a gash and the scar of it will remain through life. We worked our boat to another island close to where the ship struck and there was the fore part of the ship and some canvas, but not a soul was there or any provisions. We made a boat's sail and after committing ourselves to the care of the Almighty we started back to our island to get the bread. When we arrived there we found Father's dead body stripped naked. We obtained two barrels of bread and having got them into the boat we left as quickly as possible, as we didn't know but what the natives might be concealed.—We also left Father's body on the rocks. We got back to the hulk and there we remained till nearly all our bread was out waiting for a fair wind and good weather; at last it came and we started for St. Carlos with one half barrel of bread. We managed to get 100 miles along the coast, at last our provisions were out and we lived 6 weeks on raw muscles, berries and roots. On the 15th of Feb. '55, we saw some natives and they being friendly we gave ourselves up to them and remained with them till May 25th, '55. While living with them we lived principally on a dead whale which had been buried for months, and therefore was rank and putrid. On the 25th of May we saw the Chilean brig of war Meteoro, Capt. Martenaz, and brought to this port, arriving June 24th. The Consul has taken care of me, and the American Captains here, are very kind to me. We go home in the bark Eliza, Capt. Philips, of Baltimore.

This is the account of the awful tale. Only two saved out of nineteen. Robert Wells—called George on board the ship—and myself, and I feel thankful to my God for his kindness in sparing my life. I have found three letters from home. Tell Louisa to be a good girl and mind Aunt Lydia, for now she has no dear Father or Mother. I would write to Thaddeus and Aunt Lydia, but the story is too awful. I will now bring this to a close by bidding you good by.

Please excuse all blunders and bad writing.
THOMAS EDWARD COFFIN,

The following are the names of the officers and crew:

Alexander H. Coffin, master; Charles H. Pitman, 1st mate; David R. Evans, 2d mate; Joseph Francis, steward; John Alexander, cook, all of Nantucket; Seamen—Jarius H. Butler, of Beaufort; Edward Bennett, and Wm. Johnson, of Rhode Island; Robert Joshua and Loring Wilson, Mass.; Wm. H. Fisher, Del.; Thes. Nunes, New Orleans; Wm. Richards, New Jersey; Joseph Gram, North Providence; Robert Wells, New York; Thomas E. Coffin, (captain's son) of Nantucket.

GLOOSED SHIRT-BOSOMS. An old reliable washwoman says that the way she has retained her customers is by exercising great care and using the following preparation: Take two ounces of fine white gum-arabic powder, put it in a pitcher and pour on a pint or more of water, and then, having covered it, let it stand all night. In the morning pour it carefully from the dregs into a clean bottle, cork and keep it for use. A tea-spoonful of gum water stirred in a pint of starch made in the usual way will give to lawns, white or printed, a look of newness, when nothing else can restore them, after they have been washed.—Norwich Bulletin.

Praise your Wife.

Praise your wife, man; for pity sake give her a little encouragement; it won't hurt her. She has made your home comfortable, your hearth bright and shining; your food agreeable—for pity sake tell her you thank her, if nothing more. She don't expect it; it will make her eyes open wider, than they have for these ten years, but it will do her good, for all that, and you to.

There are many women to-day thirsting for the words of praise, the language of encouragement. Through summer's heat, through winter's toil, they have drudged uncomplainingly and so accustomed have their fathers, brothers and husbands become to monotonous labors, that they look for them and upon them as they do the daily rising of the sun and its daily going down. Homely, every-day life may be made beautiful by an appreciation of its very holiness. You know if you have taken from your drawer a clean shirt whenever you want it, that somebody's fingers have ached in the toil of making it so fresh and agreeable, so smooth and lustrous. Everything that pleases the eye and the sense has been produced by constant work, much thought, great care and untiring efforts, bodily and mentally.

It is not that many men do not appreciate these things, and a glow of gratitude for the numberless attentions bestowed upon them in sickness and in health, but they are so selfish in that feeling. They don't come out with a hearty—"why how pleasant you make things look wife!" or "I'm obliged to you for taking so much pains!" They thank the tailor giving them "fits"; they thank the man in a full omnibus who gives them a seat; they thank the young lady who moves along in the concert room—in short they thank everything out of doors because it is the custom, and come home tip their chairs back and their heels up, pull out the newspaper, grumble if wife asks them to take the baby, scold if the fire has got down, or, if everything is just right, shut their mouths with a smack of satisfaction, but never say, "I thank you."

I tell you what, men, young and old, if you did but show an ordinary civility towards those common articles of house-keeping, your wives, if you gave them the hundred and sixteenth part of the compliment you almost choke them with before you were married, if you would stop the bandying about who you were going to have when number one was dead, (such things wives may laugh at, but they sink deep sometimes,) if you would cease to speak of their faults, however banteringly before others, fewer women would seek for other sources of happiness than your apparently cold, sottish affection. Praise your wife, then, and you may rest assured that her deficiencies are fully counterbalanced by your own.

MESSRS. HUSSEY & ROBINSON.—Would not some notice of the meteorological and celestial phenomena of the present century be of interest to the readers of your paper; as for instance, the burning of the barns by lightning, January 1, 1800; the great solar eclipse of 1806; the deluge of rain in August 1810, when it fell in torrents for seventy-two hours; the hurricane of 1814, and the terrific gale of 1815, when the tide nearly destroyed the then town of Providence; or the frost in every month during the year 1816; the terrible cold of Feb. 13th, 1817; the gale of January, 1820, or the tremendous snow storm of Feb. 13th, of the same year; the hot day of July 13th, 1825; the great hay crops of 1830 and 1831; the snow storm of May 3d and 4th, 1861, when the snow fell for thirty-six hours, although melting as fast as falling; and many other occurrences that would make an article of exceeding interest, by any one possessing the records, of which I think there are several in town.

DIED:

On Saturday evening, 27th inst., Capt. PAUL CHASE, formerly of Nantucket, aged 60 years. His funeral will take place this [Monday] afternoon at four o'clock, from his late residence, Light House, on Water St.

DEATH OF PAUL CHASE.—The death of Capt. PAUL CHASE will occasion a general regret in this community. He expired last Saturday evening at the age of sixty years, the last ten of which he had spent in this city. He was a noble specimen of the old Nantucket sea captains, having been all his life previous to his residence here, in the whaling trade, and for many years master of some of the largest and finest ships sailing out of New Bedford to the Pacific. He was, for a long time, sailing the ships, Pacific and Nassau, the owners of which reposed the most implicit confidence in his integrity, skill and seamanship. On his last voyage he was afflicted with rheumatism which kept him, during three years, in his berth, from which he issued his orders. So perfectly did he acquit himself, even under his misfortune, and so well did he command his business that the three years' voyage resulted in a cargo of 8,500 barrels of oil. His rheumatism compelled his leaving the sea, and he retired with a competency of six or eight thousand dollars in the hands of his employers. During a brief journey to the lakes to secure a home to which he might retire and enjoy the balance of life in comfort, his employers became bankrupt, and he lost the fruits of industry and perils on the sea. He came to this city, and by his every trait of a noble and kind heart, attracted the affection of all who knew him. He was appointed in 1853, light-house keeper at this port, and would never have been removed but by the hand of the Providence which at last relieved him of duties which he executed with a faithfulness that could not be impeached.

"It is not expressible how deep a wound a tongue sharpened with calumny can inflict on a sensitive heart with a few words."

CURB THY TONGUE.

Should malice tempt thee e'er to frame,
Slander against another's name,
Oh, spare that heart the aching pain
And curb thy tongue!

The best have frailties—none are free;
Then breath no words of calumny
'Twill be reflected back on thee
Then curb thy tongue!

Will it improve one erring heart,
For thee to hurl thy slanderous dart?
Nay, 'twill only cause thine own to smart;
So curb thy tongue!

So if thou hope'st to be forgiven, Speak ill of none—the worst even,
And smiles shall beam on thee from Heaven;
Curb thy tongue!

Flee—swifly flee from calumny,
Let silence drown the poison'd lie,
And truth will reign and falsehood die.
Curb thy tongue!

CANCER.—Dr. Kellogg of Ann Arbor, Michigan, has just performed another remarkable operation in the removal of a cancer from the cheek of Capt. Robert Calder. The cancer may be seen, preserved in a bottle of spirits, at the rooms of the Doctor, on Pearl Street. It is considerably larger than the one which was taken from Mr. William Holway's lip, as recently mentioned in our columns.

Capt. Calder, a veteran of 73 years of age, informs us that the removal of the cancer occupied just nine days, from the time of placing himself under the care of Dr. Kellogg; during which time, he neither lost a meal nor a night's rest. The wound or cavity in his cheek, when we saw it, looked clean and healthy, and so far as we could judge, was in a fair way to heal and get entirely well. Capt. Calder feels exceedingly grateful for the Doctor's care and kindness, and is desirous that all his friends should examine his case and know all the facts connected with it.

INTELLIGENCE FROM MR. SEVERANCE, U. S. COMMISSIONER TO THE SANDWICH ISLANDS.—From letter published in the Kenne-beek Journal from Mr. and Mrs. Severance, dated Dec. 1st and 3^d, we make the following extract:
Mr. Severance writes as follows, under date,—

TUESDAY AFTERNOON, Dec. 3.

We do not go into Talcuahua, (the port of the old city of Concepcion,) but are now heading for Valparaiso, where we expect to be to-night, and from whence we send letters and get news.— Shall make a very short stay. On Sunday afternoon, after Mrs S. had written the foregoing, we saw a sail in the west, the first this side of the Cape. She made signals that she wanted to speak us. We soon neared each other, and her boat came alongside. The first man to spring on our deck was a Mr. Winslow, mate of the ship Zenas Coffin, with a letter from her Captain, Arthur, informing us that four days before the Z. C. had lost a man, carried down by the rope in attempting to take a blackfish. His name was Oliver Denico, of Vassalboro'. Mr. Winslow told us he too hailed from Maine, having married his wife in Sidney. It was a strange place to meet Kennebeeks. The Zenas Coffin was from Nantucket, and had been out 24 months cruising for whales, had got only 600 barrels oil—could carry 3000; had not seen a whale for four months. We had seen more than fifty, and only a few days before had seen 20 or 30 sperm whales off the islands of Chiloe. Of this we informed Mr. Winslow. We gave him lots of newspapers, pamphlets, &c.— Off Cape Horn we lost Thomas L. King, of Boston, a lad of 16. The weather on this coast is still cold and raw at sea, although this is the first month of summer, and we in the latitude of the Carolinas.

LOSS OF A BOAT AND CREW.—We refer our readers to the account published under our marine head, of the loss of a boat and boat's crew belonging to the ship Richard Mitchell, Capt. M' Cleave, of Nantucket. The whalers' life is one of danger, and many and sad are the stories of accidents and deaths connected with them.— There is something terrible in the idea of six men, in the full possession of health and life, and in the very flush and fever of excitement and anticipated triumph over the huge monsters of the deep, being all at once engulfed in the deep cold waters, or worse still, left in a frail boat floating alone at sea, without water or food, compass or chart, assistance or hope.— And there are kind and loving hearts too, at home, who await the coming of these now floating in the deep sea, eyes, blue as their winding sheets, that will be as moist, too, when the sad words reach them that they sleep forever in the grave which neither spade nor pick has hollowed, which neither marble slab nor friendly epitaph mark out to tell the sorrowing eyes where they may weep over the sacred dust. Poor sailor, 'tis a fitting tomb, but oh, too suddenly won, and too soon forgotten.—[Alt. California.]

low being near, struck the same whale; Mr. Russell being one mile to leeward in pursuit of more whales, and close on, made signals for one boat to cut and go to leeward; cut Mr. Winslow's boat from the whale and went to leeward, the sun half an hour high; at this time lost sight of Mr. Russell's boat's sails, bearing from the ship SW by W, 4 miles distant; lost sight of the boat's sails from the other boats at the same time. At dark, having no doubt Mr. Winslow had the run of Mr. Russell's boat, took the dead whale alongside and kept off for the other boats. At 10 PM took Mr. Winslow's boat alongside; he had seen nothing of Mr. Russell after his taking in his sails. Lay with the foretopsail aback and sent the boats off in search, making signals from the ship during the night; had a gentle breeze and the moon near the full. At daylight could see nothing of missing boat; at 8 AM called the boats on board. We judged now, by what we had run and drifted through the night, the boat must be to windward; cast loose from the whale, after waiving her, and made sail, working to windward on short tacks; worked to windward until we judged we were as far as we were the night previous, and then worked off to leeward. We cruised about here eight days making signals nights, but saw no indication of the boat; we saw the dead whale three different times, but he was past taking. We had fine weather while searching for the boat, with a current running to the westward from one and a half to two miles per hour; and I have no doubt that if the boat had been afloat I should have found her. My opinion is, that she was taken down by a whale, and the effects from her swept off by the current. Mr. Winslow thinks that if she had been afloat he would have seen her before night came on; and Mr. Russell would have cut from a whale at dark, as I had given them all strict orders to do so, for Mr. Pitman had a narrow escape the last season, off Japan, by striking a whale at night and holding on alone. The following were the persons in the boat: Mr. Russell, Nantucket; Joseph Antonio, Azores; Jonathan L. Weston, Mass.; Horace Welch, shipped at New Zealand; Frank Sousa, shipped at Pico; Charley, a native, shipped at Rarotonga.

Sag Harbor Feb. 11. A letter dated Callao, Jan 5, '51, received on Saturday last, from Mr. David Loper, first officer of ship Panama (owned by Messrs N & G Howell of this place) reports her arrival at Callao leaky, and condemned as unseaworthy. The Panama sailed from this port in July last for San Francisco, with a cargo principally of coal. Capt. Hallock was then waiting the arrival of some steamer in the hope of making sale of his cargo, as the ruling prices at the date of the letter, at that port, would not pay the cost of discharging. The Panama previous to the present voyage had been for many years successfully employed in the whaling business from this port.

REMARKABLE VISION. The following singular vision was revealed to Joseph Hoag of the Society Friends, who was born in Dutchess county, New York, April 23, 1762. He first appeared as a Gospel minister when he was about eighteen years of age, and was acknowledged as such by the Society of Friends in the twenty-third year of his age. In 1789 or 1790 he removed with his family and settled at Charlotte, Vermont, and was the first minister who settled in that town. He traveled extensively as a minister in all parts of the United States, also in the Canadas and Nova Scotia. He died at Charlotte, Vermont, November 21, 1846, in the eighty-fifth year of his age. It was while on his farm at Charlotte that he had this vision:

"In the year 1803, probably in the eighth or ninth month, I was one day alone in the field and observed that the sun shone clear but a mist eclipsed the brightness of its shining. As I reflected upon the singularity of the event, my mind was struck into silence the most solemn I ever remembered to have witnessed; for it seemed as if all my faculties were laid low and unusually brought into deep silence. I said to myself what can all this mean. I do not recollect ever before to have been sensible of such feelings. And I heard a voice from heaven say, 'this that thou seest which dims the brightness of the sun is a sign of the present and coming times. I took the forefathers of this country from a land of oppression—I planted them here among the people of the forest—I sustained them, and while they were humble I blessed them, and fed them, and they became a numerous people, but they have forgotten me who nourished and protected them in the wilderness, and are running into every abomination and evil practice of which the old countries are guilty, and I have taken quietude from the land and suffered a dividing spirit to come among them. Lift up thine eyes and behold.' And I saw them dividing in great heat. This division began in the church upon points of doctrine. It commenced in the Presbyterian Society and went through the various religious denominations, and in its progress and close the effect was nearly the same. Those who dissented went off with high heads and taunting language, and those who kept to their organized sentiments appeared exercised and sorrowful. When this dividing spirit entered the Society of Friends it raged in as high a degree as any I had before discovered, and as before, those who separated went with lofty looks and taunting, censoring language. Those who kept to their ancient principles retired by themselves. It next appeared in the lodges of the Free Masons and it broke out in appearance like a volcano, inasmuch as it set the country in an uproar for a length of time.

Then it entered politics throughout the United States, and did not stop until it produced a civil war. An abundance of human blood was shed in course of the combat, the Southern States lost their power, and slavery was annihilated from their borders. Then a monarchical power arose, took the government of the States, established a national religion, and made all societies tributary to support its expenses. I saw them take property from Friends to a large amount. I was amazed at beholding all this, and I heard a voice proclaim: "This power shall not always stand, but with this power I will chastise thy church until they return to the faithfulness of their forefathers. Thou seest what is coming upon thy native land for their iniquity and the blood of Africa, the remembrance of which has come up before me. This vision is yet for many days."

I had no thought of writing it for many years, until it became such a burden that for my own relief I have written it."

Motions in California.

On the 21st Dec 1855. George M. Folger of Paulus Hook in Company with George St Gardner and Jack Bramby belonging to one of the Western States had been on a gunning excursion to Swiss Bay, in a small vessel.
After returning at night and getting their supper, they by some accident, upset their candle & a spark from which is supposed to have communicated with some loose grains of powder that had sifted through the head of a keg, and from that to the powder within the keg, (about 30 pounds) causing a terrific explosion, tearing the vessel to pieces, and throwing Mr Folger and Bramby into the creek. They however, got out, and succeeded in preserving St Gardner, who was confined by a cask of water which was thrown upon him.
Their clothing was completely stripped from their bodies, and they were then compelled to walk a distance of two miles to the nearest house, suffering terribly from their burns, and the severe cold.
Mr Folger was so much injured by the explosion, that he died nine days afterwards. It is a wonder that they were not all instantly killed, he was thirty one years old.

A letter received in this town by G. W. Gardner Esq; from Capt. Brown of ship Enterprise, dated Sozubey Dec 1st 1855. states that on the morning on the 8th. while taking his anchor at Cocos Island, the strap of a Block parted, and the block struck Charles H. Ellis, 2^d mate in the head and knocked him overboard, probably killing him as a boat was lowered but nothing could be found of him.

1860

A fire broke out the 1st of March 1860 in the barn of Esiah Nickerson in the South part of the town. supposed Incendiary which was easily subdued

On the 9th of March 1860. the alarm of fire was occasioned by the burning of a small building in the lot of Rowland Hinkley a short distance from town, evidently fired by some evil disposed person to create a general alarm.

On the evening of March 12th 1860, The cooperage establishment of Mr. David Holger, at the head of Pearl street was consumed by fire last eve the fire is supposed to have been occasioned by lightning. Had it not been for the heavy rain which prevailed at the time, quite an extensive conflagration would have occurred

On the evening of the 14th March 1860 a fire broke out in John Winn Barn on Grove Lane and was consumed with about six tons of Hay loss about $500. supposed Incendiary this Barn was just outside the Town on Tuesday April 3^d 1860. A fire was set to the war House of, or belonging to Joseph Starbuck Ery situated on Angold street

The fire had made but little progress, when it was discovered and extinguished by residents in that vicinity. Information was given by George H. Brown. And other circumstances excited suspicion that the fire was set by two youths named Franklin S. Chase and Henry C. Stockpole the above J. B. C & H. C. S. were arrested and were found guilty of this and others of the above fires.

Cold in the Head

March 1878 Dissolve a table spoonful of powdered Borax in a pint of hot water, when typical, smuff some up the nostrils two or three times a day, or use the dry powdered Borax like snuff, taking a pinch as often as required.

Incendiary Fire

Nov 1st 1860 At 7 o'clock P.M. a fire broke out in the Barn of Chas C. Folger at his Farm at the west part of the Town. In a short time the Barn and all its contents consisting of Eight Cows, One Bull, One Horse, one Yearling Colt, 40 tons Hay, a large quantity Potatoes, and all of the Farming tools of Mr. Folger were wholly consumed.

The loss to Mr. Folger cannot fall short of 2000 dollars. Mr. Folger had $400 insured. The fire was undoubtedly the work of an Incendiary.

At the time the fire broke out Mr. & Mrs. Folger were absent and just then were on their way from the Farm of Mr. Jno. Folgers, Daniel Hart, Habel Mc Kim & Chas Folger. a boy about 16 son of W. C. Folger were left in charge of the Farm. Hart is a lad above seventeen years old and came from some Boston Reformatory Institution and has lived with Mr. Folger as an apprentice for several years. Hart was yesterday arrested and upon the charge of setting the fire was fully committed by J. M. Burkes Esq. Trial Justice to answer at the next June Term.

The Steam Ship Yankee Blade was wrecked in two days after leaving San Francisco, and while in a trying situation, in saving life and property, and the Capt was on shore at the time some of the crew took their time to thunder and to commit murder, on board of the ill fated vessel. The passengers were taken off by another steamer and carried back to San Francisco, and lost all; The list of Waukechet passengers are as follows. Capt Benjamin Cogshall in care of Capt Isaac Gardner, sick and speechless. Mr Capen, Emanuel Bras.

Capt Cogshall arrived in Waukechet in Nov 1854, and went in a fit, and died next day after he got home. never knew his family, taken in a fit on board of our Steam Boat.

The new Ship "Memnon" was burnt in one of the sea ports in 1854.

Missing Vessel

Ship Manchester Alexander Caffri Master. Charles Pitman mate. Capt. Caffri had his wife, and child with him. left Waukechet in 1854.

The ship left New York for Panama and Valparaiso, they met with disaster and put in to Montevideo for repairs in July 23rd 1854, of which since has not been heard from up to this date

Jan 29th 1855. The ship was old and leaky when heard from last, and fit for riding only. So they wrote home.

~~Receipt~~ for Tomato Catsup, Mrs. Junkin

After washing a peck of Tomatoes, cut them up and boil them until the skins are completely separated. Then strain in such manner as to get the pulp. To this I add enough salt, by degrees as to make it quite salt, about one lb brown sugar and reduce by boiling nearly one half. Fifteen minutes before taking off add cayenne pepper & if care less about retaining color some black do, Cloves Cinnamon - allspice. Long specie desired - doing this according to taste, as to quantity of spice. When cold add one pint vinegar to bottle —

Receipt from Mrs Lydia Kitchen

To a pack of ripe Tomatoes cooked soft and strained, add $\frac{1}{2}$ oz powdered Cloves do pepper, 3 oz Horseradish, a Root of garlic, salt to taste. Boil all together over a slow fire, till reduced to one half; to each quart add three or four spoonfulls of vinegar. When cool, Bottle and keep it in a cool place, age improves it —

We made some as follows

Depression of spirits the cause

Insanity supposed to be both mad Dead on own Job at one time.
He was brought here and buried.
a fine young man, and never known to be insane before he left 5 states and wrote them himself saying he was tired of life, and he wished himself on the morning it took place which was Sabbath, and dressed himself in his best suit, and wrote to the Landlady he boarded with in five minutes now he should take poison, and wished to be buried just as he was, as he had laid himself out for the grave, and if his relatives saw fit to take the Body it to give it up.
He paid up all board the night before.
this he wrote and left to his employer and Landlady

Capt Peter Smith's Wife Charlott by name, was taken sick the first part of October in 1854, with the Crispiposis, and it settled in her eyes and she has gradually lost the sight of them, and became blind.

Dr Gross attended her and she never had been out from that time to the present time up to this date.

June 30th 1855. last week Dr Reynolds of Boston the great eye doctor came to see her and he said there was no help for her, the nerves of the eyes were dead, and he also said her eyes had been trifled with, and treated wrong; and even Bread and Milk Poultices had been put on by Dr Gross, or ordered, it caused the humor all to settle in her eyes, and she is a poor unreconciled woman, rather die than live, and be blind; it is a sad affair.

Obituary, selected from the Honolulu Friend of Nov 14th 1855.

Died on board Ship Ramble of Nantucket May 24th 1855 Capt John Porter, of Nantucket with inflammation of the brain, after an illness of 4 days.
He was very much respected by all who knew him. He leaves a wife and infant daughter to mourn his loss.

O Death whose awful influence
Is felt over land and sea!
It seems they will not be content,
Till all have had to thee!

We stood beside him when he died,
Nostalgia was the scene,
To see him, who by all beloved,
Passed from me like a dream.

No wife was there to soothe his brow,
No infant daughter near,
To Heaven he's gone, his final home
O, may they meet him there.

Without a moan or movement,
To mark where he was laid,
Tis there he sleeps, from care released,
Till the sea gives up its dead.

 On the 9th March, at eve, Sister Judith Sturtevant fell in the act of getting up from her chair to get a light after taking a nap as usual in her chair after tea; and was suddenly awakened by loud raps at the door by a friend, and attempted to sit down after getting up, and missed of her chair and fell on the floor heavily, and, on the 8th of April 1872 Doctor Sweet arrived by being sent for to her case, and finds her case a hopeless one, found the Cap of the High Bone split, and the cap of the bone broken off, and the cap of the Ligaments broken.
 and probably never will walk again.)

This is caused by sitting in darkness and trying to get a light in the dark after being warned by us all, not to go to sleep without a light, and so it is, a bad affair is all.)

To cure a felon on the Hand Take sassafras Bark the inside Bark dry and grate it fine and wet in a tea cup with cold water for a poultice apply to the felon and wet once in five minutes in cold water this followed up, will draw it to a head in twenty four hours, without any pain and without any injury to the hand, use the bark of the root.

Remedy for corns surely can be cured by applying a good coat of gum arabic and white mastic every evening or going to Bed
 It cures in a few weeks a sure cure.

~~X~~ The middle of August 1872. I was taken sick with Bilious Diarrhea, Took Rhubarb Liniment twice, and Castor Oil twice, and hot Composition to warm the Bowels, Drank freely of Composition tea, to check and warm the system, and Bayberry tea to check and strengthen (two or three tea spoons full) ~~and~~ ^{of the Bayberry tea 3 to 4} times a day, as the case requires it to check.

Left off taking medicine after the pain ceased at the Bowels, by taking two tea spoons full of the Liniment of Rhubarb, once.

At the close of the day, as darkness prevails,
 For the room Pacific, I spread all my sails, Having very long spars, And a run quite clear,
 I'm oft the first craft, in that room to appear.
 For fear you'll mistake the good Room Pacific, I'll try to explain, or be more specific
 As you sail main streak, the brick bank in your wake
 In the first good room, all the papers they take,
 They are spread on boards, for members to read,
 Without any regard, to party or creed.

The next in course, is the noble "House of Lords", Where flashes of thought, find expression in words
 They discuss the affairs, of our own Nation
 As well as those of the rest of Creation.

The value of Stocks, the quality of oil
 The sea and the sky, as well as the Isle
 They can fit a ship off, or run her ashore
 Or sail her better, than any one before
 They can catch a blue fish, an eel or a sprat
 Or knock a whale, in the shape of a cock'd hat
 They can ride a fast horse, or perhaps a mare
 And burn their six centins' to perfume the air

The next is the Room, where Mariners do call
 To hold social converse, to laugh and to bawl
 Here your humble servant, has just founce a seat, Hoping, this evening, all the members to meet.
 Soon the door swings open, a brother walks in,
 with a graceful air, and a smile that will win
 At talk he is cautious, no one to offend,
 The treat all alike, both enemy and friend
 A first rate cigar, he seems much to enjoy
 But a pleasure I fear, with too much alloy.
 His form is rather slim, his cheek rather pale.
 To bespeak a condition, free from all ail, soon enters another, with a cold low bow
 With a shade of sadness, on his wrinkled brow,
 Not caused by any of his own misdeeds;
 By the hand of another, his great heart bleed
 Go and visit the woods, from men far away,
 And see ravenous monsters, seize their prey.
 To visit the ocean, in her darkest hour,
 And see sharks, and killers, their own kind devour,
 And all these dark scenes, nor yet any other,
 So as bad as brother, devouring brother.

But cheer up good soul, love and cherish your wife Confide in your God, and thus long enjoy life
 On the dark side of life, will no longer dwell
 To unpleasant thought, we will bid a farewell.

Hi! in steps another with a martial air
 A sprig of Esau, by the looks of his hair
 His with sparkling eye, and symmetrical parts
 They bespeak his great skill, in loves secret art.
 As a friend he is warm, as a foe severe
 When he gets hold of Bucks, please make the track clear While setting his hales, of the bright golden sande
 The closest attention he always commands
 From going the whole length, he never will winch Unless when setting, a whole yard by the inch.
 He will tell us of men, and ladies most fair
 Of the winding river, and grizzly bear
 The low land, the mountain, of thunder and rain
 Of mat little cots, and fields of waving grain
 And long may he roll, in the leaves of the bower
 And sip Ambrosia, from the breath of flowers
 A forthy gentlemen, from name I refrain Comes limping on board, by the aide of his cane
 He gracefully bows, and drops into a seat Seeming very much please, the brothers to meet
 He has ploughed the sea, and likewise the soil
 And now he enjoys the reward of his toil.
 He is easy, he is sociable, he is kind.

And for a rich joke, his match you can't find.
 In comes another the spirit of the time.

In which the parts of the bigger man combine
 A child of fortune, while sailing the blue sea
 War in his mind, listeth, to go he is free.
 Where ever his active mind, inclines to roam
 On whatever subject he's always at home
 Narrative metaphor, and hyperbole
 He lays in the "yarns, which he spins of the sea
 He can talk of City, Town, or village life
 Of Father, of Son, of Brothers, and of wife
 A blue fish puddling, with sour milk for a sauce
 He thinks A. number one, for himself or his horse
 At raising large potatoes he's no mean hand
 With Geese and turkeys legs, he dresses his land
 When national affairs, comes under his view
 To Liberty's cause, he is always untrue
 But I hope and trust, that the day will arive
 When to the true cause, he will be all alive

To the cause of God, and his fellow man true
 Thus my worthy friend, I will bid you adieu
 And here comes another, a picture of health
 With a beautiful face, a purse full of wealth
 For a particular chair, he scans the room o'er Or his cunning trotters, would not reach the floor
 His low chair found, on natures cushion he sits Ready to give the high school, particular of its So grand education he is no friend
 And that position, he is able to defend
 He will make "hibernation," shake and shiver
 And send "Latin Grammar," away to Salt River
 When the converse takes a more common place turn His fiery zeal will slumber, rather than burn
 Then over his fine features, a smile will play
 Until the merry laugh, sloth chase it away Laugh away good brother, yes laugh while you can
 For they tell us that life, is nought but a span
 And here comes another, with an air of cheer
 The presiding genius, of the hour and year
 At the end of the table, he takes his seat
 His bow legs being short, he puts up his feet
 And wo to Knight, that tells him a lance
 The "Sancho Paza" like wile sends him to Grane
 When the chant of the hour moves smoothly along
 He listens with pleasure, or joins with the song
 He is noble-his warm-his affectionate heart
 The friendships it kindles, may it never depart
 In walks another, with dignity and grace
 His tale once told, with a rather silver face
 As straight as an arrow, as silent as night
 But the charms of the music, gives him delight
 He will sit and listen, and while the time away
 But not speak himself: less he something to say
 And here another, and I have a notion That he kindles in all, a feeling of devotion With reverence and grace, he bows to us all Then tells us of altar, and likewise his pale
 And while he's talking, like a good christian friend
 The smoke from his altar, begins to ascend
 It curls far away, in clouds towards the sky
 When I hope some day, his good spirit may fly
 And here comes another, hear joyful noise
 Who can tell us all about things near the north pole
 All about the Ice bergs, or large fields of snow
 And just how to sail them, he can give advice
 He can tell about the land, or men on shore.

The way they live out of house, or low in door.
 How can tell about bowheads, or devil fish too,
 Just how to work a ship, or treat a good crew,
 And may be o'er the length, of all good commandos Till the boatswain Gabriel, pipes aloft all hands
 And now they come in, so lively And do fast
 That for each one alone, I can't blow a blast
 The rich joke and the laugh, the noise and bawl Shake the air of the room, the floor and the wall
 Some sit in silence, and puff the smoke away
 Like an old spermaceti, asleep in her bay
 Some sit in groups, of two or three together
 Talking of loves, or perhaps of the weather
 Then there some, of a different turn of mind
 Who talks of the weathr, which we soon leave behind
 The others who think, they have a soul to save Hold sober converse, of things beyond the grave
 They talk of spirits, who in harmony dwell
 And question why here, we can't just as well
 To my humble mind, the true reason is plain
 And from telling you frankly, I can't refrain Study and reflection, tell me that the cause
 Is the entire disregard, of natures laws
 In this Eden of ours, there's fruit rich and rare
 As well as the sky full, of pure wholesome air
 The rain drops from heaven, thy sparkle and glow
 While rays of the sun, paint the beautiful bow
 In the arch of heaven, the clouds ever form
 In the smile of the sunshine, or frown of the storm See the ocean blue, in all her grandeur, will Or when she slumbers, like the new born child Yea, see Mother earth, extended far and wide With charms as pleasing, as a new made bride
 When thou have seen, methinks you'll see the more
 Which calls to the bosom of our Father - God
 He is alone the universe, where all mankind
 Can take their lessons, from his master mind
 The earth his footstool, where all men can stand Whether from heathen, or from christian land
 The rich and poor, the high and low can meet On common ground, a common star to greet
 This is the true church and true school in one Where all mankind should greet the rising sun.

Take one drachm of Slum, burn and then pulvrise it; add a table spoonful of gun powder;
Then mix them both in a tea cupful of honey,
And administer a tea spoonfull every two hours to the patient. Taken from the Schra Age. California.

Receipt for Neuralgia Affections

Take equal parts of sweet oil, spirits of Hartshorn, turpentine and Camphor. It can be made an anodyne by adding a little Laudanum

Cure for Cancer

Boil fine Turkey figs in new milk, which they will thicken; when they are tender, split and apply them as warm as they can be borne to the part affected, whether broken or not; the part must be washed every time the poultice is changed with some of the milk, use a fresh poultice night and morning, and at least once during the day, and drink a quarter of a pint of the milk the figs are boiled in twice in the twenty four hours.
If the stomach will bear it, this must be persevered in for three or four months at least. A man aged 105 years, was cured about six years before his death with only six pounds of figs.

The cancer which began at the corner of his mouth, had eaten through his jaw, cheek and half way down his throat yet it was so perfectly cured as never to show any tendency to return.

Should it ever do so, the figs should be again applied, The first application gives a good deal of pain, but afterwards each dressing gives relief.

On the 16th Sept^r 1838
 We were visited with a powerful wind called the Nine Gale it came up about four o'clock in the afternoon in the worst form like a tornado, it blew up the largest trees on Wauket chimneys. Windows blew down Barns unroofed, and Barns blew down, and Mary Behave and myself went to Joseph Starbuck's to tea on that day and his cellar window blew in and broke the sash all to pieces and panes of glass blew in out of the Parlor window.)
 And in the eve it was a very pleasant moonlight evening.
 I came home and found two panes of glass broken and apart of a post blown up.
 it was called the severest gale since 1816 on Wauket

A Whaling Story

Our bonny ship, a noble soul commands;
 We're full good mates, and twenty willing hands
 Three boats we man, with sails and oars complete
 We never fear the swiftest of the fleet.
 When o'er the cruising ground our ship doth glide
 To raise a whale, each sailor takes a pride
 Soon as the morning sun lights up the sky,
 Three willing hands, ascends to mast heads high,
 And o'er the sea with Eagle eye they scan,
 In hopes to see a whale; each worthy man
 The cabin gang another place supply
 For fear a whale will pass the sailors eye
 Two hours a man the running dance doth say
 And thus we look, and pass the time away
 With a cock White tail extended wide, and high
 The braces strong, thy make the good ship fly Suspicious omens rise on every side
 The porpois leaps, and dives beneath the tide, Another follows, and ten thousand more,
 Until the make old ocean foam and roar.
 The bright eyes glisten in the sea below
 And wing to wing two boobies dir us go Large shoals of fish, their precious sides to save Spread their bright wings, and skip from wave to wave
 The dolphin swim with ever changing hue
 And fins erect, the trembling fish perceive
 The fierce war hawk and tropic bird fly low,
 And prove the flying fishes drest for Sharks with devolous way, our ship pursue Wishing a chance to grab a man, or two;
 At last from you mast head the cheerful sound
 Of thru the blowes, doth o'er the ship resound Quick as the lightnings flash, the Captain springs
 And where away in thunder tones he sings
 Just where we head, about two miles away
 On ocean bed, a noble whale doth lay The lucky man replies, The captain takes His spying glass, and quick the rigging shaketh Step boord step, away aloft he goes Nerv'd by the charming sound of thru the blowes
 The cross-trees gaines, soon as his eagle eye
 Spies the spout which rises towards the sky
 He wished for power, shake the quiet air Line all the boats, and for the fray prepare Now fore and aft, enough confusion reigns
 Some to the boats repair, some to the chains
 The steersmans test the keenness of their craft

Bend thine lines clear, and straighten you and oft
 The gripe all singe, and the falls all clear.
 They pause awhile, and music choose they hear,
 There goes flukes, thy shout with lungs of power
 The bows his head, to tarry one whole hour
 The Captain thus released from further gase
 The voice of other duty now obeys
 He down the reeving steps, both brisk and smart
 And to the mates, his knowledge cloth impart
 He tells the course and distance, where to sail
 And how to manage, if they strike the whale His plans all laid, the main sail up we have Back the main topsail, and hoist each davit gall Swing the cranes and lower the boats away Paddle the long oars, and let each skie obey
 The lively breeze, which wafts us on apace
 Near land more near, the objects of our chase
 The starboard boat most lively under sail
 The weather chance cloth take for mates may fail
 Our noble mate with purpose firm and high
 On midway course directs his flaming eye
 Our second mate flies with a flowing scie Hoping in vain, to strike the noble whale ~~Snuff upon kind friends, and scarce of game or life~~ ~~Tippe each oars below (and raise each stout above)~~ Hola! hold! below a snapping sound we hear
 As three fast studs do strive to win the race
 Each boomy boat pursues the whale apace
 Just twice nine souls, the precious freight they bear
 For great jobs aye now breath a silent prayer
 For them long years we've sailed the ocean wide
 And now with fortunes smile we'll homeward glide
 High in the Azure sky the mid-day sun Tells us the hour and space is nearly run Silence prevails! nought but the ruffling wave
 And sighing breeze disturbs the sailors grave
 Each eager eye cloth scan the ocean round
 Each anxious heart beats inwardly profound
 There he lays, and thru the blows! right ahead
 The chief mate harpooneerman fiercely said
 Quick to your paddles, every mother boy!
 Our hearts firing mad, with look of joy Bend to your paddles low, good breez blow high
 And like the spoon drift make our good boat fly
 Like a lone Isle, the noble whale doth lay
 Of merry waves around him dance and play
 The mate not doubting begins a wish to know, over

Whether his boy will strike a certain blow Quick as the lightnings flash his blood doth rise:
 with scornful feeling sparkling in his eyes.
 The boy responds, "Sir, did I ever fail
 Or else a putman ever miss a whale?
 No, no; far sooner than it should be so.
 My worthless carcass to the sharkes doth throw
 My worthy mother taught me while a brat,
 Not high school bore, but how to strike the cat".
 "Boy, stand by your craft; paddle with a will
 The mate commands; and soon we'll try your skill.
 His flukes we pass, abreast his hump doth slide Dart," And two irons bury in his side.
 Roll up the slate; and black eastern boys all Our noble mate in thunder tones doth bawl.
 The wounded whale in agony doth sweep
 His fan; while his huge tail doth lash the deep.
 The foaming ocean round a crimson dyed Tosses our boat about from side to side.
 But yielding to the impulse of the wave,
 We in blue water fly, and leave the gore.
 As out of dangers way our boat doth rage.
 The mate and steersman quick their places change
 On to the loggerhead and our doth pance,
 The other one to clear away his lance.
 Up to the whale another boat doth go,
 He strikes, he strikes - the whale returns the blow
 The boat, and men high in the air doth fly
 A piercing shriek resounds throughout the sky
 In dire confusion men and matar all, Around, and on the giant sea do fall.
 With jaw extended wide, he heaves around.
 His massive head, and then bows low, to sound
 As high aloft his heavy floods do turn
 To save the men, each willing heart doth yearn.
 Our noble captain, to the rescue flies;
 While we bow low, are holding on our prize
 The running line around the log-head plays
 And raises clouds of smoke, if not a blaze
 The other boat drags near we hear a halie
 And much we fear she brings a woful tale
 In monotone we hear the voice again
 As it tellt of a shipmates loss with pain.
 O Fortune! O lime Why thy fatal sweep Gods will be done; we have no time to weep.
 The whale no longer sounds he stops he turns
 His wounded side with anguish throbs and burns

All facing forward, in the line we haul
 One arm, one feeling, animating all.
 Swat home kind spines, and sacred flame of love;
 Lower each arm below, and raise each soul above,
 Hold; hold; below a snapping sound we hear,
 Our angry foe is raising somewhere near.
 He comes! he comes! and lifts his head on high.
 And bending falls: he shakes the sea and sky.
 High in the air the cloud of spray displays
 In glowing lines the sun's direful rays.
 The sea subsides, the cloud it moves away.
 Blowing in crimson foam, the whale doth lay
 The line all in, the mate in haste commands
 Take to your oars, and ply your able hands Straight for his lip. direct your boat and eye Pull my brave lads, and make the good boat fly.
 A few more strokes, and then for well or woe,
 This gloomy lance will strike the fatal blow.
 Hold! he is straight and swift as cupids dart
 The trembling lance flies through his aching heart.
 With quick convulsive shake, he rolls, he snort,
 And strikes a blow, which fills us to the throat.
 Our dear life sake we fly the backward bar,
 While the sick whale blows out the crimson gore
 All danger clear; that we may safely float.
 Each strives again to bail the sinking boat.
 The work soon done; then all at leisure lie,
 Watching the noble whale to see him die.
 Spirit of darkness in the sea appear,
 While over head the sea birds ride, career.
 He heeds them not: starting with half closed ey,
 He in his winding flurz round doth fly
 Like the whirlwind in its furious sweep
 He makes his progress o'er the raging deep
 The third time round, on broadside still he lies.
 Hailing the sun: he drops his fin and dies.

To make Sweet Apple Pudding

Take one pint of scalded milk, half a pint of Indian meal a tablespoonful of salt, and six sweet apples cut into small pieces, will afford a rich jelly. This is one of the most luxurious yet simple puddings made,

Cure for the Sick Headache

Two spoonfuls of finely powdered charcoal, drank in a half a tumbler of water, will in less than 15 minutes give relief to the sick headache, when caused as in most cases it is, by super abundance of acid on the stomach.

Remedy for Diphtheria or sore throat

Gargle or wash the inside of the throat frequently with a teaspoonful of tincture of Black Cohosh diluted with a little water. Commence using it on the first symptom of soreness or inflammation. It does not burn or cauterise, but soothes and relieves the irritation. Do not swallow as it would nauseate.
 Continue the use once in two hours until relieved. The tincture can be had at any drug store, from Boston Journal Feb 26th 1861

Particulars of the Massacre on board the Ship Awashonks

The following is an extract from a letter from the third mate of the Ship Awashonks of Falmouth to his parents in that place giving a more particular account of the massacre on board that ship than has heretofore published. A. S. Murray

Other Sandwich Islands Nov 25th 1835.

On the 20th of Aug last, we set sail from the Society Islands, with a fair prospect of a successful cruise. Made a quick passage to the Equator and soon commenced taking oil, we relinquised the idea of going on the coast of Japan, intending to make our cruise from Long 160° West to the King-mill Group. We found strong westerly winds among the Group, about the 15th of Sept. having obtained 400 bbls of Oil making 650 Mts. On the 22nd of Sept. having cruised near Oceans high Island for sometime and seeing no Whals. Paulea to the Northward in strong hopes of reaching the Sandwich Islands by the last of Nov, with an increase of our cargo these Islands being the nearest and only port where such assistance could be obtained as our circumstances required but alas! our imaginary prospects soon turned to a scene of death and blood-thr. On the morning of the 5th of Oct. we saw Herring Island ahead situated in Lat 5° 35' N. & Long 168° 13' East. As we grew near this Island they appeared green and fertile, and Capt. Coffin thought proper to stop to get some refreshments. At half past 11 we hoisted main topsail back for that purpose. At half past 12 there were about 30 natives off and the most of them came on board. They took an opportunity while the ship's company were entirely off guard, to take the ship. The first weapons they seized were four cutting spades out of 13 they took 8 the others being seized by the ship's company. After a short but bloody contest, in which our Captain was killed, they gained possession of the ship. A part of the ship's company fled to the fore hold, a part aloft, and a part overboard, our cabin was gained by getting through between decks from the fore hold and muskets were discharged with good effect. After cutting away the starboard boat and taking some craft that lay at hand, they left the ship in a situation shocking to behold. Capt. Coffin was killed on the quarter deck. Mr. Gardner 1st Officer was killed in the fore hold Mr. Swain 2^d Officer was killed overboard. John Oakley and two Society Island natives jumped overboard. John Oakley drowned the two natives were last seen swimming from the ship. Three seamen were badly wounded one of which named Lewis Gibbs died to the Northward of this port, one named Daniel Wood is recovering two seamen named Thomas Gifford & Eleazar Nichols were slightly wounded but in three weeks were well.

After my escape with life and ship for which I feel grateful to the all wise Creator, I arrived at this port on the 24th after a passage of 50 days, with one hundred gallons water on board, having been on an allowance for three weeks."

Susan and myself left Nantucket
Sep 18th for East Marcham, to visit Sister

Shutevant, and returned on the 15^d 10^m 1855.

A woman had a swelling in her side for several years and at last became so painful that she had to have a doctor, and finally had Dr Fearing to open it, and it resulted in the extraction of 37 ~~thirty~~ needles from the side of the patient.

The longest needle was an inch and a half in length, and it is supposed that still more needles are there in her side. When they were swallowed, the patient is unable to say.

But the presumption is, about twelve years ago, as she was labouring under insanity at that time.
Probably swallowed them by the paper.

The was drawn down one side by the pain.

But is quite comfortable at this date. October 25th 1855.

This operation took place about ~~Aug~~ 1855.

July

Further particulars of the needles

A statement of Dr Fearing's, of which was the physician which took them from the patient, is as follows. Jane James age 44 yrs had 62 needles and one pin taken from her side and stomach in July 1855. Patient doing well.

1873. Aug 3^d this morning Sunday at 3^h 15 min in the morning a fire broke out in the Shoe Factory formerly the West Grammar School House and burned to the ground

About twenty minutes after one o'clock on Tuesday morning Sept 20th 1859 a fire broke out in the rear of the shoe manufacturing establishment of A.D. Bowles, Hurley Block, Centre street, and soon a goodly portion of the building was in flames.
The fire spread to the store next door occupied by Francis S. Kitchee as a fancy dry goods store, - the fire lasted one hour, the above mentioned buildings were all that were insured. Insured

On the 12th of October 1859
A fire broke out, in a house on Union street, formerly owned and occupied by the late, Seth Clark.
It was almost wholly consumed, of late this house has been noted as a house of ill fame kept by a Portuguese woman, at the time of the fire it was not occupied — no doubt incendiary.

One the 28th of Oct 1859. A fire broke out on brant point on board the ship Plantin. this ship was on the ways, and had been through a repair at a cost of Eight Thousand Dollars. She was totally consumed no doubt the work of Incendiary, and insured for about Eight Thousand Dollars

THE CRANBERRY CURE.—A writer in one of the newspapers, in reply to the question, "will cranberries cure erysipelas?" says—"A lady visited our family a few days since, and stated that her daughter had the erysipelas quite bad. We called to mind the remedy recommended by the New Haven editor. On returning home in the evening, she found the disease was spreading rapidly, and had assumed a frightful appearance. She immediately applied a poultice made of cranberries, which seemed to arrest it at once, and the second poultice effected a complete cure."

In San Francisco, 26th ult., Mr. George F. Brown, formerly of this town, aged 41.

In San Francisco, April 2, Sarah C., wife of Capt. R. S. Bodfish, a native of Nantucket, aged 63 years.

In New Jersey, 6th inst., Alexander B. Coleman, son of Jonathan G. Coleman, of Waquoit, aged 20 years, 9 months and 6 days. His remains were taken to Waquoit on the 8th. [Middleborough papers please copy.]

In Newtown, Conn., 19th inst., of consumption, Mr. George O. Capen, son of Christopher Capen, formerly of this town, aged 26 years.

CURE FOR A RATTLESNAKE BITE.—The Madison (Wis.) Journal contains the following, which is well worth remembering:

We are informed by Dr. Ward that the child of Mr. White that was bitten by a rattlesnake last week has recovered. The remedy used is so simple and attainable by every one that it ought to be generally known.—The hand which was bitten and arm were enveloped in a poultice of moistened ashes, and the child was made to drink freely of whisky punch.

WOMAN'S LOVE.

Much has been written about woman's love, but we doubt if that "glory of a woman" was ever so forcibly expressed in a few words, as in the following stanzas, which we take from an English paper:

Come, from your long, long roving,

On the sea so wild and rough;

Come to me tender and loving,

And I shall be blessed enough.

Where your sails have been unfurling,

What winds have blown on your brow,

I know not and ask not, my darling,

So that you come to me now.

Sorrowful, sinful and lonely,

Poor and despised though you be,

All are nothing, if only

You turn from the tempter to me.

Of men though you be unforgiven,

Though priest be unable to shrive,

I'll pray till I weary all Heaven,

If you only come back alive.
